

UniFi networking for business

Office and multi-site Wi-Fi and switching for growing Australian SMBs

Hybrid work, cloud apps, and company Mac and Windows fleets need a network that is reliable and understandable. New Gauge Digital designs and delivers Ubiquiti UniFi networks for offices, warehouses, and multi-site teams — survey through handover.

What growing businesses need

- Wi-Fi that holds up when everyone is on video calls and cloud tools at once.
- Staff, guest, and device networks separated sensibly for security and simplicity.
- Switching and power for access points, cameras, and phones where required.
- A single management picture your team — or a partner — can maintain as you grow.

What a UniFi business project typically includes

- Discovery of sites, headcount peaks, problem areas, and existing internet or firewall setup.
- Design of access points, switches, and gateway options matched to risk and budget.
- Supply, install, and adoption into UniFi management.
- Configuration of SSIDs, VLANs, guest access, and baseline security practices.
- Documentation and handover — or alignment with ongoing device security services.

Why UniFi for SMBs

UniFi delivers enterprise-capable Wi-Fi and switching under one platform, with a licensing model that suits growing businesses better than many traditional enterprise stacks. You get visibility, room to expand multi-site, and hardware your team can learn without a specialist army.

How it fits with devices and security

Apple Business Manager, Jamf, Microsoft 365, and Sophos all work better on a network that is designed on purpose. Field and trades teams especially benefit when office and multi-site connectivity is consistent.

How we work

- | | |
|------------------|--|
| Discover | Sites, roles, growth plans, and current pain points. |
| Design | Right-size hardware and segmentation for how you work. |
| Deploy | Install, configure, and validate real-world use. |
| Hand over | Docs and training — or operate alongside managed security. |

Pricing

Hardware and professional services are quoted after discovery. We do not publish a one-size price list online.
